WHO I WORK WITH

My past experience includes work with all types of organizations including agencies, websites, nonprofits, print magazines, newspapers, and small businesses, many of them with numerous repeat assignments. The resources below were created to help event and meeting organizers create, measure, and expand the potential of corporate events, university events, and association conferences.

WHAT YOU CAN EXPECT

You'll receive my life-shifting (and completely free) digital training called "It's Launch Time" as soon as you subscribe. It'll show you how to turn your fear into faith and your focus into action – the kind of action that enables your dreams to come to life and your life to be what you've dreamed.

Excited to share this gift with you. Organizations across industries like technology, financial services, non-profit, and university, leverage the impact that a keynote speaker can make to engage audiences and convey compelling messages to attendees.
